The President's Message

THE VERY REV. CELESTIN J. STEINER, S.J.
President, University of Detroit

AS President and Father of the University of Detroit family, I welcome you to another Titan football game. Football has long been an important institution at our University. As a student of the University of Detroit, I was a member of our school's football team. I am proud to have had a part in our football tradition, and I know that the men who represent the University on this occasion are equally proud of the uniform they wear.

These are important days for our University. We are in the midst of an expansion and development program and with God's help and your cooperation, we shall succeed. I am confident that very soon I shall be able to invite you to join me at the ground-breaking ceremonies for the University of Detroit Field House, the first step in our program.

I know that I speak for all friends and alumni of the University when I express the wish that the Titan coaching staff and the 1950 football squad will enjoy a season of success and accomplishment, and that they will write new and glowing chapters to an honorable history.

Celestin J. Steiner, S.J.

The Director of Athletics

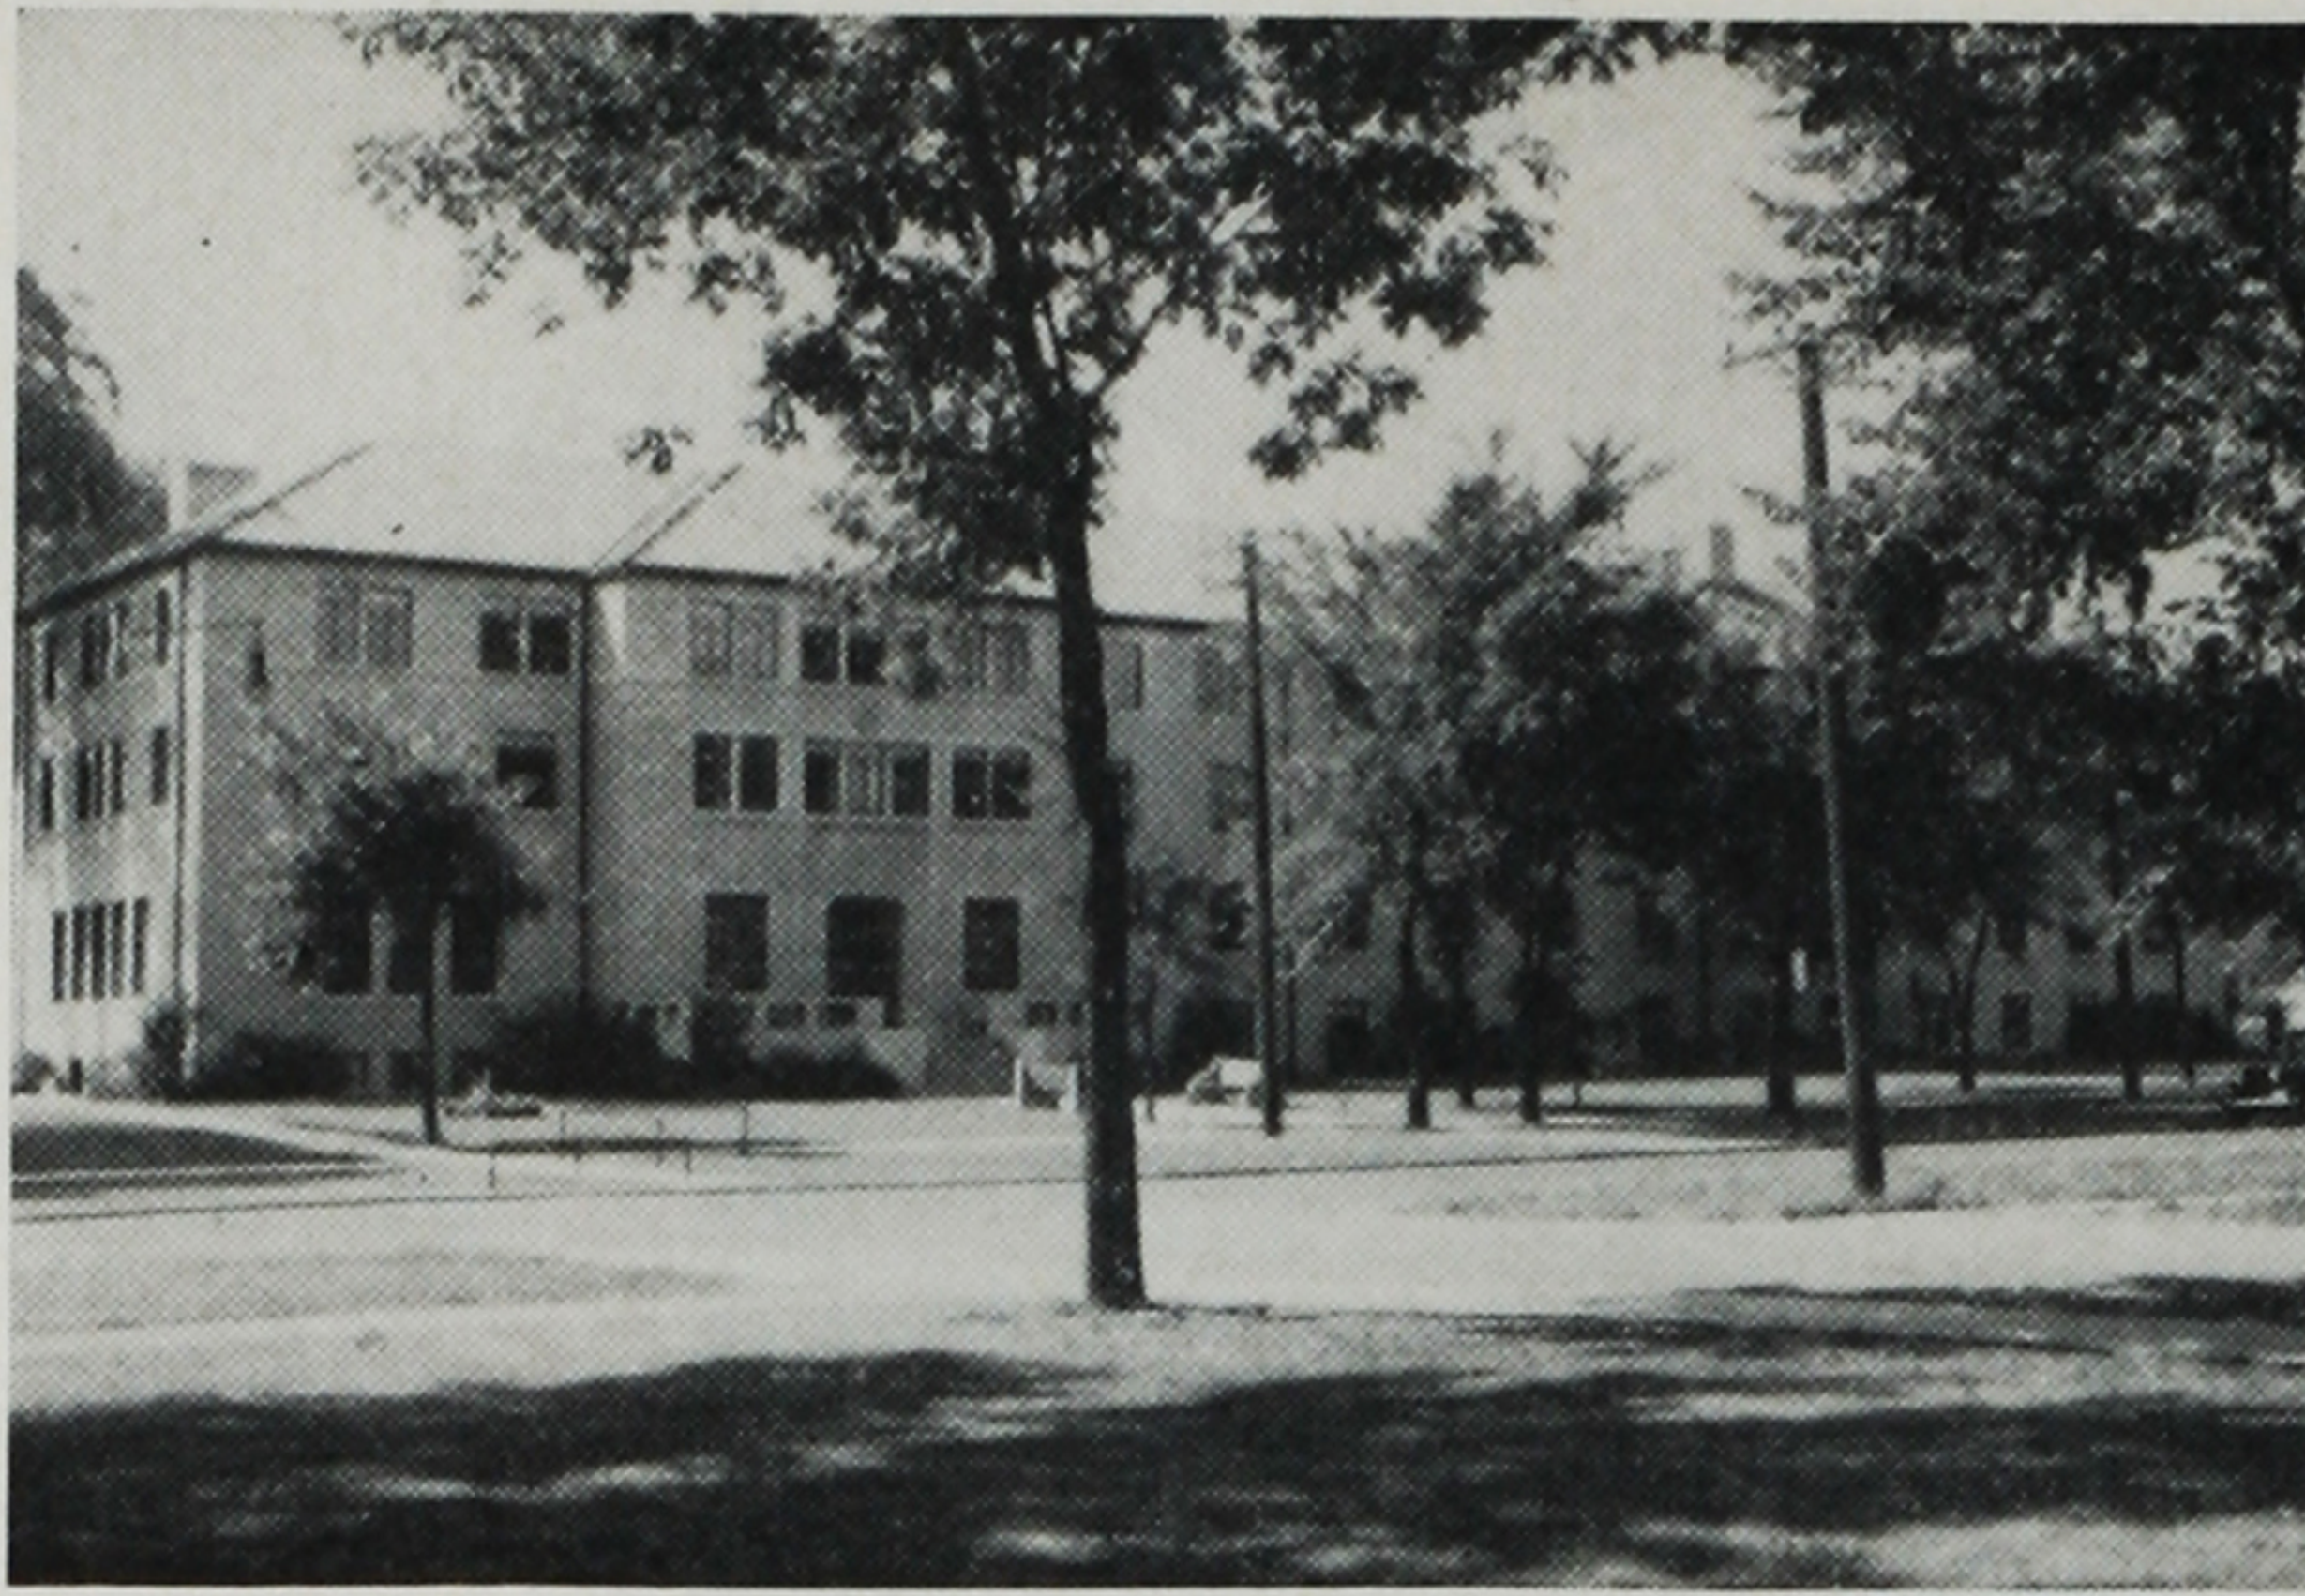

LLOYD BRAZIL

LLOYD BRAZIL, the Titans' athletic director, has been a part of the University of Detroit's athletic picture for 24 years as a player, a coach and an administrator.

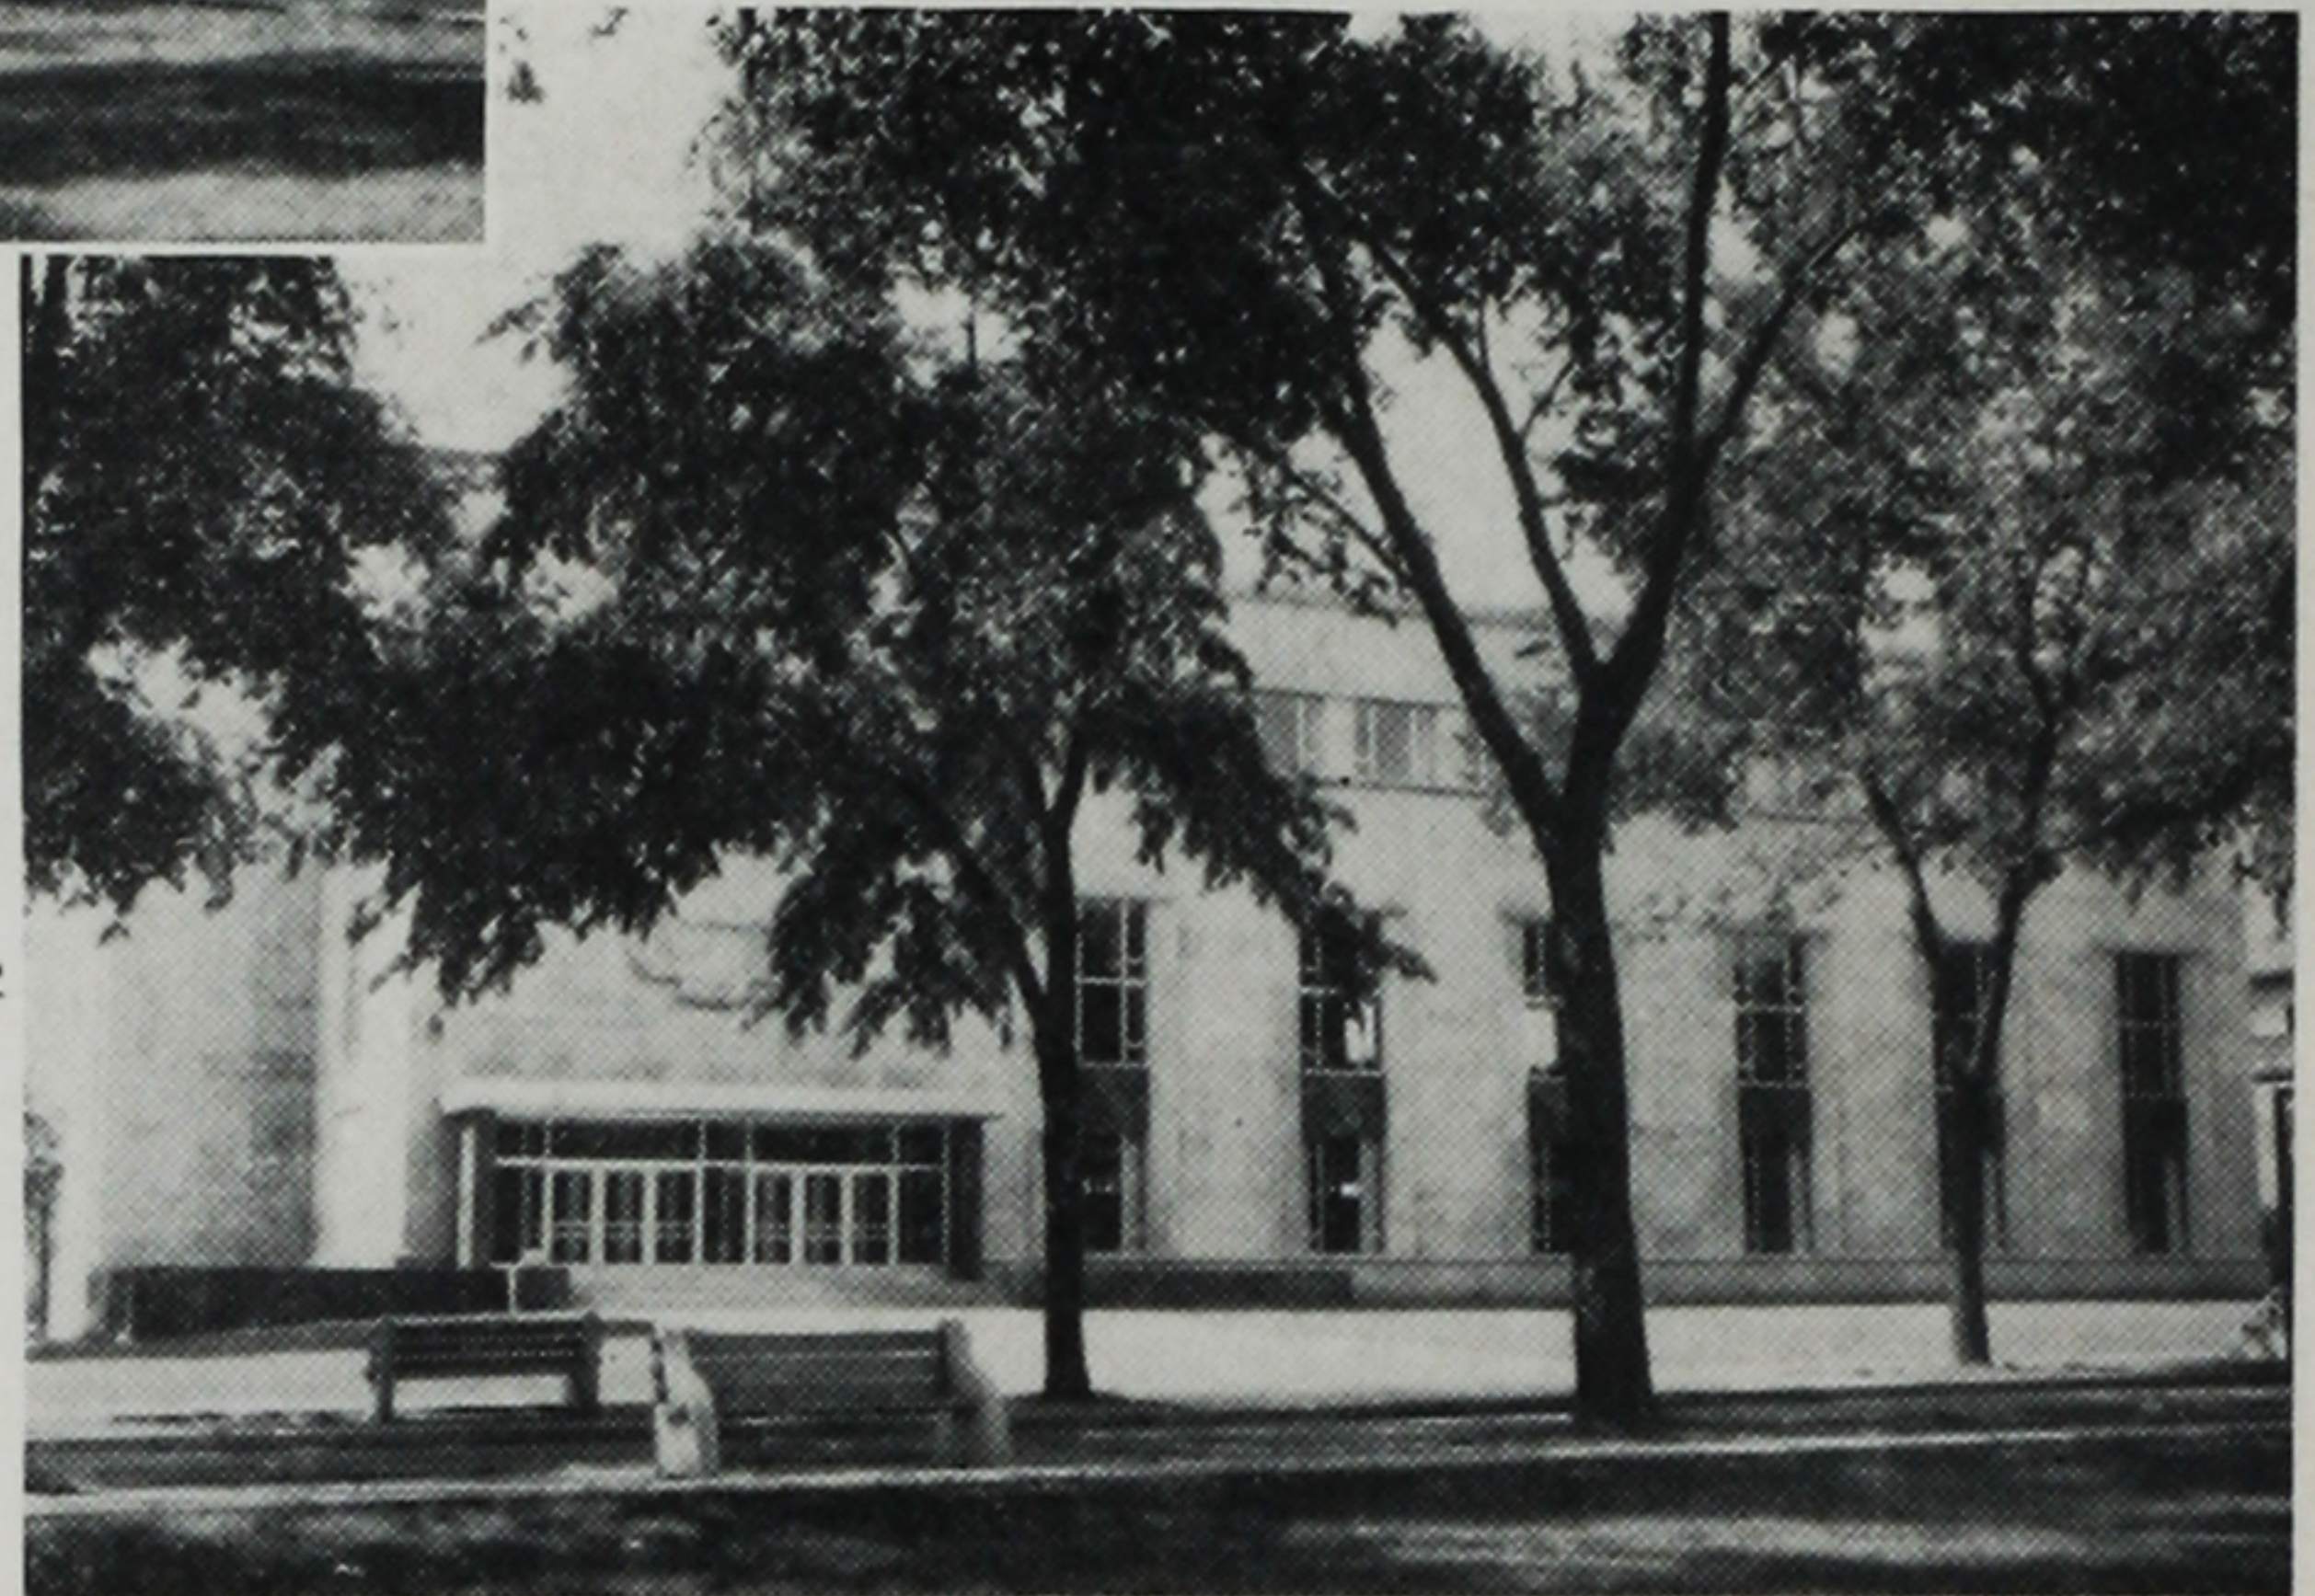

He first came to Detroit in 1926, after an outstanding career as a high school athlete. He had been an all-state halfback at Flint Central High School and was almost as proficient on the basketball court and on the baseball diamond.

During Brazil's three years as a football regular, Detroit won 23 games, tied one and lost only three. Two of these defeats came in his sophomore year—to Army and Notre Dame—and the other happened in his senior year at the hands of Oregon State. In 1928, he became the first Titan in history to be named on Grantland Rice's All-American team.

He joined the Titan athletic staff upon graduation and has held the posts of graduate manager and business manager of athletics, football backfield coach, basketball coach, and baseball coach. He was appointed athletic director in January, 1943.

The Head Football Coach

CHARLES E. (CHUCK) BAER

CHUCK BAER, who came to the University of Detroit in 1945 when the Titans resumed football after a two-year wartime lapse, is in his sixth season as headman of the Titan gridders.

Since taking over the coaching reins, Baer has established himself as one of the ablest and best-liked coaches in University of Detroit history. His experience and background combine to make him well-qualified to aid in the development of a long-range athletic program.

Baer was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1929, after helping the Illini win Big Ten titles in 1927 and 1928 as a guard.

He was an assistant coach at Emerson High School of Gary, Ind., in 1929 and 1930. In 1931, he became head coach at Lew Wallace High School in Gary. During his ten year stay at Wallace, his teams won five city titles, two Calumet District titles, two Northern Indiana championships and one state crown.

When Ray Eliot went to University of Illinois in 1942 to help bring the Illini out of the football wilderness, he took Baer along as an assistant. Baer helped coach the line and was one of the prime reasons for the sudden resurgence of the Illini after a long period in the football doldrums.

Baer's five Detroit teams have won 29 games while losing 18 for a .617 percentage. His 1947 team led the nation in rushing offense and his 1946 and 1948 outfits finished among the top teams in the nation in that department. Last fall, Baer directed the Titans to the Missouri Valley Conference championship in their first season of league competition.

Introducing the Assistant Coaches

EARL (DUTCH) CLARK joins the staff this fall as an assistant coach. Dutch was All-NFL quarterback five straight years with the Lions, coached the team in 1938 and was boss of the Cleveland Rams for the next four seasons. He was backfield coach of the Los Angeles Dons in the AAC last fall.

EDDIE BARBOUR is the veteran of the Titan coaching staff. Was a Detroit quarterback under Gus Dorais and joined the staff upon graduation in 1931. Served as frosh coach in prewar years and moved up to the varsity in 1945. Also serves as the Titans' chief scout. Barbour was made business manager of athletics in 1948.

BOB IVORY is in his third season as a Titan assistant coach although he is only 26 years old. Was a Titan star in 1942 and 1946. Co-captained the team and won Catholic All-American honors as a guard the latter year. Was with the Detroit Lions in 1947. Played on Third Air Force teams that won the AAF championship in 1944 and 1945.

DR. RAYMOND D. FORSYTH began training Titan athletes in 1934 as assistant to Dad Butler. Trained Brooklyn Dodgers in NFL in 1937 but returned to Detroit the following year. In 1942 he moved to the Detroit Lions. Trained Detroit Tigers in 1944 and 1945. Came back to Titans when football was reinstated in 1945. Also coaches Detroit's track squad.

The Titan Co-Captains

THOMAS M. COSTELLO

Right End

A three year star, Tom Costello will co-captain the Titans in their effort to retain the Missouri Valley Conference title. Was a defensive end in his first two seasons but turned out to be an expert pass receiver last year. Grabbed 16 aerals for 209 yards and four touchdowns. Tom is 22 years old and is a junior in the University's School of Law. He hails from Cincinnati.

Left Guard

Sharing the co-captaincy with Costello is Nick Galante, a senior who is playing his fourth year on the squad. He is one of the best blockers on the team and Titan backs will pick up lots of yardage through holes that he opens. Nick stands 5-feet-11, weighs 200 pounds and is the "old man" of the squad at 26. He prepped at Detroit Holy Redeemer.

HOMECOMING

By JOHN K. TEAHEN, JR.

Director of Sports Publicity, University of Detroit

It's time for the final event of the University of Detroit's four-day Homecoming week-end, the biggest affair of its kind in Titan history.

Since Thursday, the University campus has been the scene of numerous dances, parties, receptions and the like designed to interest both students and alumni, but to the football fan, the most important part of the celebration will take place right here in Titan Stadium.

Those other events are all a part of Homecoming, they'll tell you, but they all fall rather flat if the home team loses the ball game. To the average grad, Homecoming means football and that's what you're all here for this afternoon.

Today's game finds the Titans fighting to overcome a jinx. Not since 1947 has Detroit come out on top in the Homecoming game. Villanova spoiled the party in 1948 and San Francisco turned the trick last year.

With two wins and a tie in their last three games, the Titans are favored today, but this Duquesne outfit is perfectly capable of upsetting the experts.

Bob Ivory has scouted the Dukes twice this fall, and he points out that they are a very fine offensive ball club. The student of football will see an offense as varied as that employed by any team in the land.

Their basic formation is the winged T, but they also run plays from the single wing, double wing and short punt formations. Ivory relates that they even ran a few plays from deep punt formation against Louisville.

Ralph Longmore, a powerful halfback, is a stand-out for the Dukes and sophomore Blair Kramer runs the team from the quarterback spot and is an excellent passer. Defensively, watch Bob O'Neil, a sophomore end. Against St. Bonaventure recently, he accounted for two safeties in a single period by crashing through to spill the ball carrier in the end zone.

Coach Phil Ahwesh, the Dukes' head man, was called to duty with his National Guard outfit before the 1950 season opened, thus most of the strategy this fall has been plotted by assistant coach Lou (Doc) Skender. Ahwesh is expected to be on the sidelines with Skender today.

Ahwesh has an old score to settle with the Titans. He was a member of Duquesne's great 1939 team which was undefeated and untied going into the season finale with Detroit. The Titans played inspired ball that day and held the powerful Dukes to a 10-10 standoff.

Detroit and Duquesne are meeting for the first time since 1947 and five members of Detroit's starting lineup played in that last contest. The old-timers are End Tom Costello, Guards Ed Wood and Alex Smail, Center John Packo and Halfback Jack O'Leary.

These five men are among the 13 Titans who will be playing their final home game for the Titans this afternoon. The other seniors on the 1950 squad are Ends Gene Herman and Miles Currie, Tackle Lee Wittmer, Guards Nick Galante and Chuck Welch, and Backs John O'Connor, Ray Huetteman and Dan McKenzie.

It's the eleventh meeting between Detroit and Duquesne. The Dukes have won five of the previous games against four for the Titans. The 1939 contest, as mentioned above, ended in a tie.

TITANS TRAVEL

The Titans finish their home schedule today, but there are still two big dates on the 1950 grid calendar. Next Saturday, the Titans travel to Stillwater for a Missouri Valley Conference battle with Oklahoma A & M, and on Nov. 26 they will be in San Francisco to meet the Dons of the University of San Francisco.

The Titans met both of these teams here last fall. They edged the Aggies 13-7, but dropped a 38-14 decision to the Dons as Jimmy Ryan, the San Francisco quarterback, put on a brilliant aerial show.

Detroit holds the edge in the series with both teams. The Titans have beaten Oklahoma A & M four times in six games and have won two out of three from San Francisco.

The Alumni Corner

By GEORGE RAKOVAN

Welcome home, alumni!

This afternoon Alma Mater welcomes her sons and daughters who have returned to the campus for annual homecoming.

Participating in the affairs scheduled in the four-day program are alumni from the Saginaw Valley, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Toledo, Cleveland, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Washington, D.C., New York and Los Angeles.

RAKOVAN

Beginning last Thursday evening alumni have been engaged in attending a series of inspirational events and entertainments. On that evening the University and the National Catholic Educational Association sponsored the first annual Gabriel Richard Lecture in Rackham auditorium.

At the lecture honorary degrees were conferred on five persons who have distinguished themselves in the preservation and furtherance of American freedom. The recipients were Henry Ford II, Ross J. S. Hoffman, Fordham University history professor and author; Carlton J. H. Hayes, historian and former ambassador to Spain; Rev. Robert I. Gannon, S.J., author and past president of Fordham University; and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Hickey, University alumnus and chancellor of the Archdiocese of Detroit.

The lecture was repeated on Friday in the Varsity theatre for alumni, students, faculty, clergy and other religious.

Last Friday evening two events attracted attention of alumni. The University Players presented a performance of Man and Superman, a three-act play by George Bernard Shaw, in the Playhouse of the new University library building. That same evening the Air R.O.T.C. sponsored the first annual Military Ball at Dearborn Inn.

The homecoming program continued yesterday with the dedication of the new million-dollar library by His Eminence Edward Cardinal Mooney. Two former presidents of the University attended the dedication ceremonies. They were the Rev. William J.

Millor, S.J., now of John Carroll University, and the Rev. Albert H. Poetker, S.J., of Xavier University.

Preceding the library dedication, Field House campaign organization members began arriving in Florence Ryan auditorium to report the results of their contacts with alumni. Spurred by a rally and T.N.T. days last week the field house workers continue their efforts in soliciting alumni for subscriptions to the field house fund.

With $320,000 subscribed toward the goal of $500,000, Merritt D. Hill, campaign chairman, announced that the program will proceed until victory has been attained. Alumni are urged to assist in the fund campaign effort by supporting field house workers in their subscription solicitations.

The highlight on the homecoming schedule was the Family Party held last night in the State Fair Coliseum. At 7:30 p.m., the annual float parade moved from Seven Mile road and Woodward avenue to the Coliseum where the floats were judged for awards. Three prominent alumni served as judges in the competition. They were: Louis C. Miriani, Common Council president; B. J. "Pete" Wemhoff, editor, Automotive News; and State Senator Harold M. Ryan.

Alumni and alumnae and their families, friends, students and their parents, not only observed the presentation of Homecoming Queen Jackeline Gary, but they joined in dancing and in watching the floor show. Master of ceremonies for the evening's entertainment was Don Wattrick, radio sportscaster.

This afternoon the Titans engage a traditional foe in the Dukes of Duquesne University in the annual homecoming football game. With a record of four games won, two lost and one tied, the Titans are determined to make this afternoon's game the season's best. Encouragement by alumni could be the incentive to the Titans to square accounts with the men of Duquesne for defeats suffered at the hands of Villanova and San Francisco in the homecoming games of 1948 and 1949.

Several class parties are scheduled for this afternoon following the grid game.

The 1950 homecoming program will close this evening at 8:30 p.m., when the University Players present a repeat performance of Man and Superman. The three-act play by George Bernard Shaw will be offered in the Playhouse of the library building. All alumni are invited.

Titan Cagers Debut December 3

ROBERT J. (BOB) CALIHAN, Coach

BRENDAN L. McNAMARA, Captain

COACH Bob Calihan led the University of Detroit cagers to their most successful season in history last winter, and prospects are bright for another excellent campaign in 1950-51.

Nine lettermen return including all five starters from last year's quintet. Heading the list are Center Norm Swanson who set a school scoring record of 387 points last winter, Forwards John Kirwan who contributed 271, and Don Berner and Guards Jim (Skip) Gleeson and Captain Brendan McNamara. Other lettermen are Forwards Jerry Raispis, Dick O'Rourke and Jerry Olson and Guard Ben Zenevich. Top sophomore prospects are Ken Timmons and Walter Poff.

Detroit's 30-game schedule is the longest and toughest ever attempted by a Titan five. Fourteen of the games are in the Missouri Valley Conference, two each with Bradley, St. Louis, Oklahoma A & M, Tulsa, Drake, Wichita and Houston. The Titans also meet Villanova, Duquesne and Westminster, three Eastern powers, plus the traditional battles with Marquette, Michigan State and Wayne. Loyola (Chi.), perennially tough Midwest independent, returns to the slate this year.
